Spaceframe Construction & Engineering were awarded the EPC contract for the design and construction of our Wirtgen Group China manufacturing base in Langfang, Hebei Province, in 2013 with a brief to ensure the design and installation of the new facility meets the same technical and quality requirements as are used on any of our other global projects.

Our site covers 215,000 sqm of land with comparatively poor ground conditions. This provided the opportunity to request Spaceframe to execute state-of-the-art soil stabilization techniques using our own Wirtgen equipment including the Wirtgen WR 240 soil stabilizer and Hamm rollers. In total, over 100,000 cubic metres of cement stabilized soil was prepared.

The project comprised seven main building elements including the main office, assembly workshop, surface treatment, training center, paint shop, service center and warehouse and every project was successfully completed according to the required high-quality standards.

In December 2014 we accomplished the relocation of our production and administration into our new facility and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Spaceframe management and site project team for their effort and accomplishments in contributing significantly to the overall success of this project.

Since taking over the facility, Spaceframe continued to provide professional and reliable after sales service and we are confident that they will continue to do so should there be any issues during the ongoing warranty period.

Thank you again, Spaceframe, for a great job well done.
